

1. Instructing

- Where users instruct a system and tell it what to do
 - e.g. tell the time, print a file, save a file
- Very common conceptual model, underlying a diversity of devices and systems
 - e.g. word processors, VCRs, vending machines
- Main benefit is that instructing supports quick and efficient interaction
 - good for repetitive kinds of actions performed on multiple objects

Which is easiest and why?

