

Interview questions

- Two types:
 - ‘closed questions’ have a predetermined answer format, e.g.. ‘yes’ or ‘no’
 - ‘open questions’ do not have a predetermined format
- Closed questions are easier to analyze
- Avoid:
 - Long questions
 - Compound sentences - split them into two
 - Jargon and language that the interviewee may not understand
 - Leading questions that make assumptions e.g.. why do you like ...?
 - Unconscious biases e.g.. gender stereotypes
